

Debbie Nnameka is a Multi-lingual Experienced Growth and Strategy Leader with decades of Technology Solutions Expertise in multiple industries including FinTech and Clinical Research. She has a successful track record of utilizing technology acumen to deliver premium revenue generating products, services, and software. In her years with one of the world's leading payment processors, Debbie was responsible for the forecasting, management, and execution of enterprise level projects and programs with multi-million-dollar budgets. Her team's primary focus was on fraud analysis and prevention. Debbie's experience comes from influencing and leading international cross-functional teams, contract negotiations, liaising, forecasting, vendor management, and budget planning and execution. Under Debbie's leadership, her team implemented one of the first software initiatives targeted towards fraud analysis and loss prevention.

In her spare time Debbie enjoys "doing life" with family and friends, laughing, travelling, experiencing new cuisines, music, arts and theatre.
